

When looking at the world, it's clear that certain regions or parts of the world have types of occultism as a favorite; North America is the most diverse, where most magical systems are practiced with ceremonial magick & paganism/witchcraft being favorites all around. South America, cultural witchcraft and so on...

I've composed a map which highlights the magickal system popular or most well-known in that particular part of the world.

- North America- Melting pot; favorites are Ceremonial or Christian magick and Witchcraft (pagan), e.g. Western ceremonial magick, Wicca, Witchcraft, Enochian magick.
- Middle & South Am- Traditional pagan Witchcraft, e.g. Santeria/Brujería.
- Europe- Mild forms of Western Ceremonial magick (but purest in origin) and to lesser extents paganism.
- Asia- Necromancy/Necromantic forms of magick & traditional paganism (excluding Russia)
- Australia- Similar to North America, but to a lesser extent.
- Middle East- Traditional cultural witchcraft and/or Islamic forms of occultism.
- Africa- Traditional cultural witchcraft/paganism.
